ADRIAN GRIDDERS NEXT

NOVELTY

To Be Presented

By Mock Football Contest
Between Half Of Main Game

In an effort to increase the attendance, and in order to add more color to Friday night's game, the "X" Club of Xavier University will sponsor a mock gridiron contest at the half of the Xavier-Adrian tilt.

Both teams, which have been picked from among members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, will appear on the field, clad—not in regular football paraphernalia, but in dresses. Headgear, if any, will probably be dust caps.

When the man carrying the ball is tackled he will fall on a soft rug, thoughtfully placed for him by the officials. After each play, the referee will brush the contestants off with a whisk-broom.

Instead of getting the usual water and towels when time-out is called, these players will be served a refreshing cup of tea.

Hal Pennington, President of the "X" Club, states that such stunts as the above have added greater spirit to many of our larger colleges, and believes that it will have the same result at Xavier. He has appealed to the student body to co-operate in making the games more attractive by introducing a bit of comedy at the halves.

Any novel ideas of the student's which may be useful in adding to the entertainment of the fans will be heartily welcomed by the "X" Club.

Friday night's entertainment is in charge of Monnie Farrell. Assisting him are Don Dreyer, and Graf Moeller.

Following is the line-up for the mock football game:

Pansies:	Wallflowers
Spitzmiller	R. E. Blum
Hoofstetter	R. T. Baehner

Philops Speak On Sales Tax

Schmeig And Sweeney Trim
Kearney And Young

Debating the negative side of the question "Resolved—that the sovereign state of Ohio should adopt a retail sales tax for unemployment relief," Messrs. A. Schmeig and J. Sweeney were awarded the decision over the affirmative team of Messrs. R. Kearney and W. Young in the bi-monthly Philopiedan meeting, Monday. Mr. Leo Koester was the critic judge.

Adhering to the principle that the already overtaxed minority should not be oppressed to a greater degree and stressing the evasiveness of the tax Schmeig and Sweeney displayed a vigor and preparedness uncommon to the usual Philopiedan debates.

Mr. Koester humorously, yet judiciously discussed the debate and awarded the honor of best speaker to Richard Kearney.

Complimenting the men on their excellent preparations and deliveries, the Moderator, Rev. Robt. Manning, S. J., then expressed his desire for the continuance of such debates throughout the year. He said, moreover, that the practice of presenting the material to him for approval three days before the debates would undoubtedly improve the quality and consequently the interest in them.

For the next debate, Messrs. P. Barrett and C. Lange volunteered for the affirmative side, and Messrs. C. Blum and C. Barrett were selected from the register to represent the negative side of the question "Resolved—that the United States should cease to protect, by armed force, American capital invested in foreign lands."

ALUMNAE SUBSCRIBE TO XAVIERIAN NEWS

Members of the Alumnae Association headed by Miss Loretta Sullivan, at their general meeting Monday night held at the Xavier downtown college, voted unanimously to subscribe for the XAVIERIAN NEWS.

All members present paid the full subscription fee and pledged themselves to solicit the support of absentee members.

This is one of the many fine projects undertaken and carried to completion by the Alumnae. Although numbering only thirty four members, the Alumnae each year give a scholarship for a student in the College of Liberal Arts. They have also presented numerous campus improvements to the University.

Many Subjects Up For Debate

Council May Conduct Booth
At Fall Fete

In its initial meeting of the new scholastic year, held last Thursday evening, the Student Council showed most concern over the Freshman Rules and the Epsilon Xi Lambda Honorary Fraternity.

Chief among the points discussed was the method by which the activity points required for entrance into this society should be recorded. It was finally decided that a committee should be appointed to register the points of each student up to this curricular year. The committee assigned consists of Jack Hughes, Chairman, Jack Mulvihill, Maurice Farrell, and Joseph Podesta.

Chairman Jack Hughes has not yet assembled his committee and so there has been no decision as to the exact proceedings for the compiling of these points accurately. Students interested in this Honorary Fraternity are advised to watch the NEWS for further information on this project.

Kenneth Jordan, President of the Council, brought up another important question as to what type of booth the University Avondale Campus would operate during the coming Xavier Fall Festival. A suggestion by Maurice Farrell that a booth to raffle football tickets would not only be a profitable plan but would also benefit the Athletic Association was unanimously approved by the Council. This proposal is not definite as the General Committee of the Festival must first sanction the idea.

Constructive motions to attend to the needs of the cheer leaders in regard to uniforms and the definite settlement of the date for Freshman Hell Week closed the meeting.

FATHER STEINER S. J. SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

"Though state universities may have more courses, buildings, fraternities and activities, than we can offer, there is one thing they have not which the Catholic university has—a course in religion in the time of Jesus Christ and facilities to practice that religion." Citing this as an essential difference, Father Steiner, S. J., Campus Director, pointed out how fortunate Xavier students are in attending a university which affords such a course and such facilities and urged them to take advantage of it.

Fr. Steiner also related to the students a story of a young lad, who in his dying moments asked for Our Lord. "If this boy, on the brink of death asked for our Lord, how much more should Christ find an echo in our hearts. You need Christ to make this year a successful one in your studies, and college life as well as your 'after' life. He should be in the heart of every Catholic college student. Make Him your model; your ideal; pattern your life after him. It is the one and only true secret of success in this present material world."

DIRECTORS

Selected For Plays

Snyder And Steible Direct
Student Presentations;
Tryouts Soon

John E. Snyder
Action! Camera!

John Snyder, '34, with Daniel Steible, '35, have been chosen to direct two of the one-act plays to be presented by the Masque Society, the dramatic organization of Xavier University.

Having an important role in last year's presentation of "Wurzel-Flummery" which was under the direction of Edward Doering, '34, John Snyder proved himself deserving of the reputation which he had previously established in the 1931 production of "Nevertheless," also directed by Mr. Doering.

Daniel Steible, Junior and in his first year at Xavier, attended Fordham University for the past two years. He directed several one-act plays there, and won fame for his excellency in acting.

According to Leo Koester, Senior in the College of Liberal Arts, and director of the Society, three one-act plays are to be produced in the latter part of November.

Tryouts for the three plays will be held Monday, October 9, at 1:20 in Room 10. All actors and those desiring parts in any of the productions are requested to be present at this time.

A special effort is being made by those in charge of the Masque Society to give roles to Freshmen.

Edward Hurley Joins Faculty

Noted Etcher Will Conduct
Commercial Art
Classes

Announcement was made this week that Edward T. Hurley, Cincinnati's noted etcher, will conduct classes in drawing, etching, and commercial art, at the Xavier University Evening School of Commerce and Finance, Seventh and Sycamore, beginning Wednesday, October 11.

Mr. Hurley's course will be given each Wednesday evening throughout the year from 6:45 to 8:30.

Mr. Hurley's reputation as an artist at the Rookwood Pottery and as the outstanding etcher of Cincinnati subjects is expected to make his classes the most popular on the night schedule.

He is a member of the Xavier University Alumni Association and has been actively identified with university activities for many years. Several years ago he appeared in the Alumni Lecture series giving a series of demonstrations on the mechanics of etching and exhibiting some of his best known works.

Registration for the course is now taking place and will continue until October 11.

CHESS CLUB PLANS ACTIVITY FOR YEAR

Xavier's Chess Club met twice during the past week. Wednesday afternoon, the regular weekly meeting, was held in Room 56, in the Biology Building. Several new members were received into the club, and plans for the organization and activity of the club during the year were discussed.

The first evening meeting of the year was held Sunday at the home of Eugene Ryan, secretary of the club.

XAVIER SEISMOGRAPH RECORDS EARTHQUAKES

Five earthquakes of varying degrees of intensity have been recorded at the Xavier Seismograph Station during the past week. These included a strong shock from the Aleutian Islands on Sept. 24th, one from the mid-Pacific on Sept. 25th, a very severe shock from the Pacific southeast of Japan on Oct. 2nd, and the California quake of the same day. This last shock did not show as great intensity as the one of March 10th, which damaged Long Beach and surrounding towns.

Two earthquakes of very special interest on account of the tremendous depth below the earth's surface at which they originated, were well recorded here on Sept. 5th and 6th, the first from a depth of more than 350 miles near Japan, and the second from a depth of 250 miles in the interior of Brazil.

Commerce Club Sponsors Talk

Noted Economist Featured
In First Of Series
Of Addresses

A feature of the meeting of the Xavier University Commerce Club tonight will be an address by Mr. Ernest F. DuBrul, nationally known economist and business consultant. This is the first in a series of talks to be given by prominent business leaders at the meetings of this organization.

The subject of Mr. DuBrul's address will be "Practical Application of the Law of Supply and Demand." The various ways in which this economic law affects our present reconstruction program will be pointed out, and it will be shown that this law is not an abstract economic theory but is instead a vital influence in our business structure.

This talk will be limited to one-half hour and will be followed by a general discussion of the subject. Because this law is of such importance and has such wide spread results its explanation will be of great interest to every member of the club. It will be especially valuable to the freshman since a thorough knowledge of the workings of this law will provide a firm foundation for their entire study of economics and of business problems.

Other matters of importance will be discussed at the regular meeting which will precede Mr. DuBrul's address.

Membership in the Xavier University Commerce Club is not compulsory in any sense. Every student in the College of Commerce and Finance is urged to attend this meeting and to take an active part in the activities of the club. Many of these activities will be organized at this meeting and it is therefore of great importance that everyone who is interested should be present tonight.

HEADLINE EDITOR FORCED TO RESIGN

Joseph J. Podesta, Senior, has taken over the position of Headline Editor on the NEWS starting with this issue. He is replacing Howard Linz, also from the Senior Class, whose afternoon duties will not permit him to handle the job.

Linz will continue to be associated with the paper as free-lance reporter and feature writer.

EIGHTY STUDENTS AT NIGHT COURSES

Auditors far outnumber credit students in the adult education series of courses being offered for the first time this year at night on the Xavier Avondale campus.

Approximately eighty students are enrolled in the four courses being given on Tuesday and Friday nights. Enrollment is expected to increase during the semester due to the fact that auditors will be admitted at any time. The courses are: "The Psychology of Religion" by Rev. Murtha J. Boylan, S. J., Tuesdays, at 7:30; "The Foundations of Character and Character Development" by Rev. Martin J. Phelan, S. J., Tuesdays at 8:30; "Books and Plays" by Rev. Claude J. Pernin, S. J., Fridays, 7:30; and "Current History" by Rev. T. Nolan, S. J., Fridays, at 8:30.

OPPONENTS FEATURE FAST AERIAL ATTACK

Champions Of Ontario-Michigan Conference Engage Xavier Next

Adrian University, next opponent on the Xaverian schedule, brings to Corcoran Field tomorrow night a pony backfield behind a rather heavy line. The same team which held the Dayton Flyers to a two touchdown victory last week will probably attempt to take the wind out of the sails of the speeding Musketeers.

The Michigan school has quite a reputation in our neighbor state where it has won the Ontario-Michigan Conference for the past three years and has won seven out of ten championships in these same years. Coach Spankle deserves much of the credit for these victories, and his true worth was exemplified last week when his team put up a scrappy fight against the heavy Flyers. At the beginning of the season, Coach Spankle had but three senior players on the squad and his starting line-up included five newcomers.

If Adrian hopes to score on Xavier, they will undoubtedly turn to the air as the first two Xavier contests have signified that only a battering backfield will be able to dent the Blue and White line. As Adrian's backfield averages only 185 pounds the air is their only hope.

In this department Coach Spankle's men are well equipped and proved this fact against the Flyers from Dayton. George Crossland and Skip Woerner are both lanky men with pass snatching ability and Ken Wassink, fullback, is adept at finding the man to receive the pass. If these three men receive any breaks Friday, the Michigan team may be the first to cross the line of the 1933 Musketeers.

At the center of the line Adrian faced the same predicament at the beginning of the year which caused so much pre-season concern to the Xavier mentors. An injury to Harold Moon, veteran guard, left the guard and center posts entirely open and could be filled only by inexperienced men.

If the center of the line is weak, however, weight and experience make the tackle and end positions the best fortified on the team. Boyse and Woerner on the right side of the line make it the strongest wall Xavier has as yet been called upon to meet this season.

Despite a lack of weight, the backfield is composed of versatile artists. Ray Woerner is a fine open field runner and Ken Wassink is an accurate passer upon whom the Michigan team depends for much of its yardage. Both are newcomers to the squad. Harley Givler, halfback, kept Dayton out of scoring territory most of the game with long spiraling punts. Wassink is the triple threat man of the quartet.

The Musketeers will do well to put aside the cocky, overconfident attitude which they carried into the Kenyon fray and which retarded their play for the first 15 minutes. Adrian has played two games, breaking even in them, and will not be as green as the first two Xavier victims. Watch those passes!

Sodality Selects New Programs

Plans Have Been Adopted By Sodality To Put Variety
In Conference

Plans of the Senior Sodality have been completed and the following program will be the procedure for the upperclassmen's sodality for the coming school year.

The first Sodality week, the second week of the month, will be Spiritual Week. At this meeting there will be a short talk by the Moderator. The subject of the talk will be some characteristic trait, some virtue of Our Lord.

Activity Meeting will be the title of the meeting for the second week. Discussion of subject of previous meeting by students from view point of student. Committees will report at this meeting.

For the third week there will be another Spiritual Meeting. At this meeting there will be a short talk by the Moderator. Some virtue, characteristic trait of our Lady's life in its concrete relation to the students' everyday life will be discussed. First Friday will be celebrated on the last sodality week of the month. There will be general communion at 8:00 o'clock Mass. During the day there will be Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament with accompanying visits by the students. A list is to be placed on the Sodality Bulletin board and also the bulletin board in Science Hall for those who wish to sign up for the Guard of Honor during the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament.

COLOR

We noticed Friday at the game, that despite the fine marching of the band, time passed slowly. A movement is underway to liven up activities at this time by short burlesques presented by students.

If properly guided and enthusiastically supported, this project should add color to the Corcoran Field games, a color which spectators appreciate and which night games have done so much to darken.

Any ideas on the nature of these presentations will be welcomed by either the NEWS or the promoters of the project.

A Press Club For Xavier—

Since the inauguration of the present semester, members of the News' staff have been seriously thinking of the feasibility of establishing some form of Newspaper, or Press, Club. Behind this intention there are no other reasons than the betterment of the individual, the Xavierian News, the department of Journalism, and Xavier University.

If such a Press Club is eventually organized (and it will be) the reader can absolutely depend upon the continual improvement of the Xavierian News. For by the formation of such an organization, newspaper and magazine officials will be invited to address the members of the News staff and thereby the News members will receive some valuable criticism so that they might be able to develop their (and your) newspaper to a higher degree of perfection. The Commerce Club's plan of address by some man of business in Greater Cincinnati, will be followed to a certain degree.

Then if such a Club is eventually organized there will be an almost automatic counteraction in the department of Journalism here at Xavier. For it is a well known fact that the best of talent on the News is at present, or has been, with a few exceptions, students in the various classes offered in Journalism at Xavier. It can clearly be seen that an interest taken in this press club, when formed, will act to the betterment of the journalism classes. The department of Journalism will then have the theory, the practice (News) and finally, higher criticism given by members of the Fourth Estate who are now participating in its activities.

Xavier University will also benefit. It will benefit in the present by the esteem given to it by the excellency of its own News. The future will bring it rewards also for, without a doubt, many who are attending the University at present, or who will eventually attend, will have their latent spark of journalism spirit within them brought out.

A real journalist is a credit to any University. The University of Kentucky's news, "The Kentucky Kernel", is a timely example of this statement. For its former editor-in-chief, Dwight L. Bicknell, is now holding the position of financial editor of the Enquirer, here in Cincinnati, having just been appointed to that position.

There are great possibilities to a Press Club. The Xavierian News intends to take advantage of these possibilities for by doing so both the individual and the University will advance. And the real, successful spirit that prevails anywhere is one of advance and not one of indifference or retreat.

Our Part—

There are a great many persons going about branding the National Recovery Act a huge failure. Generally speaking, these persons may be divided into two classes: (1) those who are ignorant of the fact that the country is in a better condition now than it was before the

"Dinner-at-Eight"

Even though it is rather late in the week now, there are still six performances left of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's truly all-star cinema production of the George Kaufman-Edna Ferber play, "Dinner-at-Eight." It had the honor of opening the season at the Shubert Theater on Sunday night and played before a good sized audience by which it was very well received.

As we joined the crowds leaving the theater after the performance, we overheard continuous phrases of praise, a fact which tends to show that the general public will be rather fond of this important new photoplay. On the whole, the public in this instance is right, for "Dinner-at-Eight" is certainly likable screen entertainment. The cast is one of distinction due not only to the vast array of excellent stars of which it is composed but more so because of the good judgment used by the director in casting each star in his or her respective role.

To us it seems that our old favorite, Marie Dressler, gains the highest honors of all in her portrayal of the retired actress, Carlotta Vance. She combines everything to be desired, being very shrewd at times, then gayly humorous, sometimes quite mischievous, and, in her scene with Madge Evans, full of that maternal tenderness which always suits her so well.

The other players, however, gain their share of honor as well as Miss Dressler. Lionel Barrymore makes a typical Oliver Jordan and Mrs. Jordan, the unifying character of the play, is splendidly interpreted by Billie Burke. John Barrymore is very convincing as the philandering, worn out actor, Larry Renault, and his theatrical agent is brilliantly portrayed by Lee Tracy, who gives another performance stamped with highly individual characteristics.

Two outstanding performances are given by Wallace Beery and Jean Harlow as Mr. and Mrs. Dan Packard. The pompous Beery naturally makes a convincing big-business man and the seductive Miss Harlow, playing the part of his common little wife, shows a perfect understanding of her role. Louise Closser Hale makes the most of a not too ambitious part as Mrs. Jordans' cousin and the character of "Ed," her movie fan husband is quite as well done by Grant Mitchell.

So much for the fine acting to be seen in "Dinner-at-Eight." As for the picture itself, we must say that though we enjoyed it a great deal, we enjoyed the stage production quite a bit more. In the first place we ask: why Hollywood insists on "improving" a perfectly good play? In this instance the ending has been changed and considerably softened to meet the demands, we suppose, of the average movie-goer. This was clearly a mistake for the present ending simply isn't natural in the light of the former actions of the characters involved. Then, too, there seemed to us to be no reason for letting out completely a clever subplot among the Jordan servants which was important enough to end in a brawl and stabbing in the kitchen thus furnishing a first-hand excuse for the ruin of that important course of the dinner, the aspic salad.

Incidentally we believe it advisable to see "Dinner-at-Eight" while it is running as a road show, if you don't mind the high prices, for it undoubtedly will be greatly cut for showing at the usual motion picture houses as it runs a full two hours (and why don't they have an intermission?).

Philharmonic Broadcasts

Devotees of symphonic music will be glad to learn that the programs of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Society will be broadcast again this year starting on Sunday at 3:00 p. m. As the directors announced already last year that they will present all of the Beethoven Symphonies, including the Choral Ninth during the 1933-34 season we are waiting the start of this series with utmost interest.

Xavier's Bla-Blod

Add some irony: Lowell Thomas coming over the radio of a Sohio Gas Station.

Leo, Angy, Koester is a real politician. You can't get away from it. For instance, his political machinations in trying to convince prospective Masque Society members that the production department is "full of fun." Quoth Angy:

"Fellows, you might not believe it, but there is a great deal of happiness and fun behind the scenes pounding away at the scenery. You don't realize the kick one can get out of such activity. Try it once."

Ho-kay, Angy, you be the band leader.

Expressive expressions: "Close the door, where do you think you are? The Dorm?"

Contrary to all statements published in last week's edition of the "News" COACH Joe Meyer will not be given away at the Fall Festival two weeks from now. The crux of the whole thing is that the headline editor, being an ethical fellow of sorts, didn't want to give any free advertising to the G. M. C. corporation by putting in the name of the machine that is to be given away.

And the best part of it is, Coach Meyer took it good naturedly.

Ed. (I'll get you a date) Scherger has been dropped from the mailing list of dear old Betty. From the pipeline who reports this also comes the word that there is an added significance which only dorm students can ferret out.

A section of a letter sent to "Half" Schott's home: "...and regarding 'don't say date, say appointment' I want to say that you are very much right. Why since this depression began, I haven't had a date but merely APPOINTMENTS by Xavierites to meet me ... at my home."

Go easy, correspondent. This depression can't last forever.

Alumni

Ye editor of Alumni News had a stroke of luck recently that had no precedent in his previous year of news grubbing. He met an alumnus who said that he would gladly be a correspondent for his class. Gladly!—and after a year of waiting. Can this be the beginning of a new deal? Anyhow, to introduce our good friend, he is none other than Bob Otto, editor of the News in '30 and now a feature writer for the Cincinnati Post (only Cincinnati daily without A. P. dispatches—but have U. P., NEA, and Scripps Howard Newspaper Alliance).

Herewith is some of the copy that Bob turned in about his classmates; we'll hold the rest for a later date.

John H. Cook never should have witnessed the wedding of William J. Wise in July, 1932. If he hadn't obliged Bill, his bosom friend, Jack Cook would still be single.

And to add more salt to the tears of the 1930 bachelor-grads, Andrew H. Schmidt, Reading, O., another member of the Wise-Cook Clan, became a benedict Sept. 11.

Mr. Cook witnessed Mr. Wise's wedding with Miss Nelda Stiens of Norwood. Putting to evident good use the talents that won him the Intercollegiate English Prize in 1929 and numerous debating laurels in 1930, Mr. Cook convinced Miss Stiens with his persuasive eloquence that he was "it," and the wedding was solemnized Aug. 21 in the Chapel of Our Lady of Sorrows, Chicago. Mr. Wise returned the compliment Mr. Cook paid him last year and acted as best man.

Mr. Cook is teaching English again this year at St. Philip High School, Chicago. He and his bride have established a permanent residence there.

Farther away still went Mr. Schmidt to enter the ranks of the benedicts. At Cory, Penn., he was wed to Miss Mary McCormick, a Cincinnati social worker. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt are living on Auburn Avenue, Cincinnati.

Elmer H. Romer, attorney in the law firm of Romer and Robinson, is now legal counsel for the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, Ky.

Pros & Cons

By Reginald Wilberton Wapoose '86

Time Clock

Last Friday night Reggie was sitting in the stands watching the game—weren't we all?—and he was having quite a hard time trying to guess just how much time was left in each quarter—don't we all? Yes, it seems as though we do for quite a few remarks were heard that ran something like this: "I wonder how much time's left." "I don't know. About five minutes, I guess."

A condition such as this should really be remedied. If you go to other schools and watch their games a large clock on the score board tells you, at a glance, just how much time is left in the quarter. Now our school has the reputation of having the finest equipment and facilities. Why should it be lacking in this respect? Certainly the spectators who come to our games would appreciate the added touch. The cost would be negligible—it would be a lasting addition and "just another Xavier convenience" for our patrons. The athletic council should take this matter up immediately.

Cheering

Another thing that Reggie noticed at the games so far. The students seem to think that cheering is one of those things you hear about—notice that ABOUT. Maybe we smoke too many cigarettes, or something. Anyway, from the weak, sporadic bursts of feeble sound that arise now and then at our games the visitors must come to the conclusion that we have lung trouble. If all the students at the game were to holler when asked to, just in the ordinary tone they employ in the "bull sessions," we would have the proper amount of noise to label it "cheering." Have a little pride. Exert yourselves just a little—everyone. Let's see some improvement tomorrow night.

Rumors: Again

Flash!—Musketeer Band to go to New Orleans.—Well, maybe.

We don't intend to devote this space to rumors or gossip but we thought that you should hear about this. The band has been discussing plans for obtaining money needed to send it along with the team when it goes down south to play Loyola this November. Various suggestions have been put forth but there is one that strikes us as being practical. The band has thought of playing at the Fall Festival and obtaining some ready cash in the form of donations. It doesn't sound like a bad idea. If everyone gave only a little it would be quite a big help. The total, accumulated in this way, would in all likelihood, be sufficient to send the musical unit to the Crescent City with the team. More power to you, boys.

SENIOR MODERATOR PROPOSES DUES

At the weekly meeting of the Senior Sodality last Friday, the Rev. Joseph Steiner, new moderator here this year, briefly reviewed the plans he had discussed at the two former meetings and remarked that a small contribution paid by the members in the form of dues could do a great deal of good.

He proposed that five cents be given every month by Sodality members. This sum would pay for a subscription to "The Queen's Work," and what remains would be spent for a worthy cause.

Father Steiner emphasized the fact that everything done by members of the society should be motivated only by a sense of spiritual reward. No recompense other than that, he said, should be expected. He also told the members that their coming to chapel every Friday was a test of their appreciation of spiritual values.

about Cigarettes

Of all the ways in which tobacco is used the cigarette is the mildest form

YOU know, ever since the Indians found out the pleasure of smoking tobacco, there have been many ways of enjoying it.

But of all the ways in which tobacco is used, the cigarette is the mildest form.

Another thing—cigarettes are about the most convenient smoke. All you have to do is strike a match.

Everything that money can buy and everything that science knows about is used to make Chesterfields.

The right home-grown tobaccos—seasoned with just enough aromatic Turkish—are blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way.

Then the cigarettes are made right—firm, well-filled. Chesterfield uses the right kind of pure cigarette paper.

There are other good cigarettes, of course, but Chesterfield is the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better. Chesterfields satisfy—we ask you to try them.

POWERFUL XAVIER ATTACK SMOTHERS KENYON

FLASHY WORK SHOWN BY KENNY JORDAN

Offense And Defense Much Improved Since Last Week's Encounter

Repeatedly cutting a wide swath through the ranks of the Kenyonites, the powerful Musketeer line paved the way for the Blue and White ball-toters who ran rough shod over the Gambier boys to the tune of 33-0 last Friday night.

The Purple and White, for some unknown reason referred to by many as the little Kenyon eleven, started on even terms with Xavier as far as weight was concerned. They did, however, not appear quite as capably equipped with reliable substitutes using but six in the entire sixty minutes.

The visitors threw a scare into the Musketeer camp by holding their own in the first quarter and even drew first blood when a pass crossed up the too confident Musketeers and gave Kenyon a first down. Enraged the Irish set about their task and from then it was all Xavier.

After a fumbled lateral pass had given the Musketeers possession of the ball on their own 26 yard line, a 24 yard sprint by George Elder and two shorter jaunts by the same gentleman and Kenny Jordan gave Xavier two first downs and placed the oval on the 39 yard stripe. Two plays later Kenny Jordan strode through right tackle, shifted into high and crossed the goal line breezing. However the officials recalled the play and penalized Xavier 15 yards for holding. This only prolonged the orgy of scoring, however, as Jordan again hit right tackle and thundered untouched over the line. The touchdown parade was on!

Two more scores were pushed over in the second quarter. The first was the result of a lateral from Jordan to Pennington for six yards and the score. The second again found Jordan the hero as he raced 28 yards through the Kenyon team and eluded four would-be tacklers.

Coach Meyer started the first eleven in the second half and they immediately advanced 75 yards from the kick-off to score for the fourth time against the weakening opponents. Fifty-two of these seventy-five yards were garnered by Kenny Jordan who received the kick-off close to the side-line on the 25 yard stripe, ran up the side to the 40, then shifting reversed his field and eluded Purple and White tacklers until four of them ganged up and smothered him on the 23 yard line. From this point a beautiful catch of a forward pass by George Elder and another into the waiting arms of Bob Dremann accumulated the necessary yardage.

The second string men were rushed in at this point and they also managed to cross up the Kenyon defense for a touchdown. This touchdown was also accomplished via the air when a 17 yard toss from Schmeig found the waiting arms of McKibben.

Although the most spectacular portion of the Musketeer's play was on the offensive, the defensive of the Irish was equally sterling. Kenyon like, its predecessor Transylvania, was unable to smash the line for a first down gaining the three first downs on passes and penalties.

Irish Poet To Lecture Soon

James Stephens To Appear Under Auspices Of Xavier

Mr. James Stephens, well known Irish poet, will appear at the Hotel Sinton-St. Nicholas Ballroom, Saturday at 8:15 p. m., under the auspices of Xavier University, according to an announcement made this week.

Tickets for the lecture are $1.00 each and can be purchased at the Ballroom. Students, however, may purchase tickets which will admit them only, in the office of the Dean in Science Hall.

The Xavier committee arranging for Mr. Stephens is headed by Mr. William T. Reenan, '03.

During previous visits to Cincinnati, Mr. Stephens stayed at the home of Mr. W. T. H. Howe, president of the American Book Co. He will again be the guest of Mr. Howe during his stay in this city. Mr. Stephens was born in Co. Dublin, and was for a number of years employed there in a solicitors office. A few years ago he wrote several striking poems and essays in Sinn Fein, and later in the Irish Review.

The contributions to these journals were later published in book form. During the past two decades Mr. Stephens has continued to publish works at varying intervals. Among the noteworthy titles which have appeared are "A Crook of Gold," "Here Are The Ladies," "The Charwoman's Daughter," "Songs From the Clay," and "The Demi-Gods."

SODALITY MEETS

Members of Xavier's Junior Sodality held their first meeting of the year, Monday, October 2, in Bellarmine Chapel. Their plan of procedure will be similar to that of the Senior Sodality.

The Junior Sodality will hold all their future meetings in the same location in which the last meeting was held: Bellarmine Chapel after Class Mass.

TWO ON THE AISLE

One member of the Usher Club, ushering at the Kenyon game, but who wishes to keep his name hidden, pulled a bold one at that game. The veracity of the following is vouched by another Usher Clubman who likewise wishes to keep his name beclouded:

Usher of the first part, tired of having plain clothes men flash detach-a-tiff badges on him, and also becoming wary that some of them were fakes made a bet with his partner, Usher of the second part, that the next Sherlock man that came along would be stopped by him—Usher of the first part.

A few minutes after the bet—a 10c cafeteria ticket—one tall husky "gentleman" (without sarcasm, Ed's Note) came up to U. No. 1 and flashed a chrome plated badge. U. No. 1 stopped him. U. No. 2 gulped hard.

But the flashed pin was an honest to goodness City of Cincinnati, "Black and Blue," Juncta Juvant badge. No feelings were hurt, though. In fact the badge flicker almost apologized for showing the pin. He seemed to give the impression that the only reason he was there was because his "boss" sent him (with three others) to watch the crowd.

The cafeteria ticket has been used. The detectives have seen the game. Kenyon lost.

So what?

POSTPONED MEETING TO BE HELD SOON

The postponed meeting of the Dante Club, Xavier's lecture group, will be held Monday, at 1:20, in Room 10, Science Hall, according to Edward Doering, its president.

Doering further stated that the meeting would be brief and that all members are to be present.
